

POSTOFFICE MONEY LOST.

Clerk Ridgely Believes He May Have Been Robbed.

Henry Ridgely, a clerk in the city post-office, yesterday reported to the local detective, through the post-office inspector, that he had lost, or there had been stolen from him, $700 in five and ten-dollar bills. The money was missed from his person about 10 o'clock yesterday morning and was lost either in the National Metropolitan Bank or on the street between that institution and the city post-office. Ridgely did not discover the loss until he arrived at the latter place. The money was the property of the Postoffice Department. Detective Weedon was immediately assigned to the case and is endeavoring to locate the missing currency.

Ridgely stated to the detective when questioned by him that the money had been contained in a long official envelope. The envelope, he said, had been placed in the inside pocket of his coat. In the same pocket was a large book which fitted tightly, the upper portion of it protruding slightly above the top of the pocket. He thought that in placing the envelope in the pocket he felt the edge of it with his fingers, but said that he might have been mistaken in this, and indeed inserted the envelope between the pages of the book. He admitted that when he buttoned his coat over it there was a possibility of its having slipped out and been lost.

Mr. Ridgely lives with his parents at 1119 I Street northwest. He is a thousand-dollar clerk in the postoffice and acts as a receiving teller in the money order division. When seen at his home last night he stated that he was at a loss to account for the disappearance of the money. He did not know whether he had lost it or been robbed. He advanced no theory. It was customary, he said, for someone connected with his office to go to the clearing house with money to take up the money orders which came in after being cashed or deposited by holders at the different banks.

This duty generally devolved upon Mr. Hunt, but in the event of Mr. Hunt's absence it was customary for Mr. Ridgely to perform it. "It is never known," continued Mr. Ridgely, "just how large an amount is required to take up the money orders when leaving the post office. As you can understand, the amount necessarily fluctuates. Yesterday morning when I started out I had $2,000 in an envelope. I went to the clearing house and took up money orders to the amount of $1,500. The balance, $500, I explained in the envelope, together with an English money order for $170. The envelope I placed in my pocket, as I supposed. There was quite a crowd in the bank when I left, and at the door in particular there was a jam. I experienced a little difficulty in making my way to the street and I was slightly jostled by the crowd. I heard a man give expression to an oath because of his difficulty in getting through the crowd. I paid no particular attention to him, and merely mentioned it as an incident. I do not remember whether my coat was buttoned or not.

"I went immediately to the postoffice, and it was not until my arrival there that I discovered the loss of the money," reported it at once. He explained in his speech and later inserted an advertisement in the newspapers for the return of the money. Mr. Ridgely had not acquainted his parents with the story of his misfortune and stated that he did not care to tell them about it. He seemed apprehensive of the worst, that would be brought upon them. He observed the greatest reticence, saying that it was an official matter. The loss, he said, was his own, inasmuch as he would have to make it good. The story, with its many details, was gleaned from Mr. Ridgely only after plying him with questions. He felt deeply chagrined over the unfortunate mishap.

AN UPROAR IN THE DIET.

The Lower House at Budapest suspends its Session.

Budapest, Dec. 10.—The sitting of the lower house of the Hungarian diet was suspended after a brief debate today because of the tumult raised by the party of the opposition. Vice President Lang tendered his resignation when the session opened and Premier Banffy then rose to make a statement, whereupon Deputy Kubik of the opposition, rushed toward the premier, apparently with the intention of assaulting him. A group of deputies surrounded the premier, while another group restrained Kubik. The whole house was instantly in an uproar, everybody shouting and wildly gesticulating. Finally Baron Banffy was able to continue his speech, but was frequently interrupted by cries of "Long live the king," etc.

AN OVATION FOR HOBSON.

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 10.—Lieut. Hobson arrived here today on his way to Greensboro, Ala., to visit his parents, before starting out for Manila.

When he arrived the crowd was so great that he was separated from his host, former Mayor Van Hoose, and, although several police officers attempted to keep back the people, Hobson was forced a block away. To get out of the crowd he was placed in a light buggy, from which he made a short speech, thanking the people for the reception. Tonight he gave a reception in the Morris Hotel, and hundreds of women and men shook hands with him.

THE REMAINS OF COLUMBUS.

They Will Be Returned to Spain Next Week.

Havana, Dec. 10.—On Monday the remains of Christopher Columbus will be taken from the cathedral and put on board the Spanish cruiser Comde Venadito, to be conveyed to Spain some day next week. Capt. Gen. Castellanos will preside at the ceremonies and the cruiser will raise the flag of the "great admiral of the Indies," which was Columbus's title, at the same time firing a salute of fifteen guns.

Open Evenings From Monday.

Room, Room, We Must Have It for the Holiday Stocks.

MUST! Everything about the store bends before the power of Christmas time and Christmas goods. We haven't half the space which the size of our purchases demands! We've been buying regular lines up to the last second, and now that Christmas is only a fortnight or so distant, we are forced to take a stand of the most decided character! We'll sweep the store from door to door! And not a department shall escape its share of the sacrifice! Millinery and cloaks such as no establishment in Washington can show are destined for the most wonderful price cutting on record! This sale will be the fitting climax of a month of extraordinary merchandising! It has been forced upon us, and when there's a pressure on all sides something—and this time it's prices—must give way!

This Is the One Shoe of All Giving Premium Stamps.

Prices always lower than everybody else's in town are made doubly so now by the fact that we will give you an extra discount of 10 per cent with everything you buy. This is in the shape of a premium stamp. You are given a book, which contains a certain number of spaces. When it is filled bring it to our store and we will present you absolutely without charge exquisite China Services, Furniture, Writing Desks, Musical Instruments, Pottery, Bricks—Brac, Albums, Lamps, Candelabra, finest Eclipse Bicycles, with or without coaster attachment.

If You Hurry You'll Be Able to Get These Free by Christmas.

We've redeemed several books already. It doesn't take long to get enough stamps. Every time you buy they're handed to you. You don't have to ask for them. You don't have to bring your book. What store in town ever did as much for you as King's Palace is doing now?
